ENTHUSIASTIC ARE LOCAL BOOSTERS OVER CHANCE FOR PLANT

Friday Night's Mass Meeting Names Committee to Select Men to Place Maysville Before Officials of Andrews Steel Company.

The mass meeting held at the City Council Chamber Friday evening in the interest of bringing the Andrews Steel Company's plants to Maysville, was a very interesting one and although short, it accomplished its purpose.

The meeting was called by Mr. Sherman Arn and Hon. Stanley F. Reed who were chosen chairman. Mr. Reed stated the purpose of the meeting and Mr. Arn read a letter he recently received from the president of the big Andrews plant.

Mr. Smith, one of the traffic experts of the C. & O. railroad was in attendance and he was called upon to give the meeting some information in regard to the freight tariffs on inbound and outbound freight from Maysville as would apply to the steel plant. Mr. Smith explained that he was unable to give any definite information as the company did not state the various destinations or shipping points but he assured the meeting that the C. & O. railroad was interested in keeping the plant on the line of the C. & O. and that adjustments of freight rates would be made that would not discriminate against Maysville and he gave it as his opinion that the company could get practically the same rates in Maysville as they are now getting in Newport.

Mr. Ellis, local L. & N. agent, and Hon. A. D. Cole, local counsel for that road, assured the meeting that they had tried to get information from their company for the meeting but had been unable to do so on so short notice. They assured the meeting, however, that the L. & N. would do as much as the C. & O. road.

Dr. John J. P. Perry, rector of the Church of the Nativity, made a very interesting talk pleading for the hearty co-operation of all Maysvillians.

Upon motion Messrs. N. S. Calhoun, E. T. Kirk and C. L. Wood were named a committee to select a committee of business men to visit the officials of the Andrews Steel Company, learn their requirements as to location, etc., and see how near Maysville could meet the necessary requirements.

BANK OF MAYSICK MAKES STATEMENT

We would remind the people of the Maysick community that in the Bank of Maysick we have a perfectly safe and secure place for the deposit of their participation certificate of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association and we guarantee their safety.

The people all know the excellent financial standing of the Bank of Maysick. We have $17,500 capital stock and $30,000 surplus. The largest surplus in proportion to capital of any bank in our county.

The Bank of Maysick has been a consistent supporter of the pool from its inception and is backing it now with as large a loan in proportion to its resources as any bank in the tobacco district.

In consideration of these facts we hope you will entrust to our care your certificate as well as your money and checks.

We trust you will show appreciation by patronizing your home institution.

MAYSVILLE'S DOGS TO BE LISTED IN A CITY-WIDE CENSUS

Police to List Every Dog in Maysville in Campaign Beginning on Next Monday—All Taxes Must Be Paid.

Chief of Police James Mackey is very busy today getting everything in readiness for a citywide census of dogs which will begin on Monday.

Every policeman will be given a supply of notices and will then be expected to call at every house in the city and obtain from the resident the number of dogs he owns or harbors.

The policeman will then fill out a notice to the resident informing him that he must call at the office of the City Tax Collector and pay his license tax within five days. A duplicate of every notice will be retained by the policeman and filed in the Chief's office.

At the expiration of five days all those who have not paid their license tax will be haled into court before City Judge Curran to show cause why they have not complied with the order.

It is expected that this census will bring several dollars into the city's treasury.

ROAD BOND ADVOCATES LOSE FIRST SENATE FIGHT

Supremacy of Rules Committee Emphasized By Contest on Road Bond Bill.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 17.—The approaching supremacy of the Rules Committee was emphasized in the State Senate today as road bond issue advocates lost their first fight by a vote of 19 to 17.

Representative Harry Meyers of Covington brought the House bond issue bill to the Senate Chamber. Senator Frank E. Daugherty of Nelson county, ranking member, requested the chair to refer the measure to the Rules Committee.

Lieut. Gov. S. Thruston Ballard said that he already had been asked to refer the measure to the Judiciary Committee, of which Senator White Mosa of Pineville, bond issue leader, is chairman.

Mr. Myers moved that the bill be delivered at once to his committee.

Senator W. A. Perry of Louisville, chairman of the Rules Committee, called attention to the rule that the bill would have to be printed first.

Senator Hiram M. Brock of Harlan inquired whether similar procedure had been followed on the Bingham Cooperative Marketing Act. Senator Newton Bright of Henry County told Mr. Brock that the Bingham bill had been printed in advance and had followed every step in the routine of passage.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR BLUEGRASS LEAGUE.

Former Mayor Thomas M. Russell and Mr. Claude Winkton have just returned from Paris where they attended a meeting of promoters of the new Bluegrass League. At this meeting Mr. Russell was chosen Temporary President of the organization. Both delivered reports prospects for a Saturday and Sunday league very encouraging. As soon as the by-laws committee is ready to make a report, President Russell will call another meeting of the promoters for the purpose of making a permanent organization.

SPEAKS AT PRAISE SERVICE.

All interested in missionary work in Africa are urged to hear Mrs. Chapman of Washington, who will tell of her work in that country at the Praise Service next Tuesday, 2:30 p.m. She is said by those who have heard her to be an interesting and entertaining speaker. A social hour will be enjoyed at the close of the address.

CROWNED WITH SUCCESS

The great work which the Washington conference has done has been done so smoothly and steadily that no opening has been left for a spectacular curtain climax. The sophisticated critics have been making the most of this non-dramatic ending. It is the only morsel of disappointment which they can roll under their tongues. They seem to find relief in contrasting this gathering, which end in good temper and quiet satisfaction, having made a contribution to world peace which everyone accepts, with the peace conference at Paris, which closed tumultuously in passion and bitterness of spirit, and whose work many of those who figured in it have since been noisily engaged in tearing down.

The Washington conference was dominated by a will to agree. Its first moment was its most dramatic moment, for the first session demonstrated to a world which the experiences at Paris had made skeptical that a broad basis of understanding could be reached. The conference was to prove the possibility of open international agreements openly arrived at, and also lasting in character because they represented solutions appealing to the good will and sober reason of all the signatories.

The many "true stories" of what happened in the shadows at Paris were mostly revelations of haphazard, capricious judgments, personal antagonisms and underground intrigues. There was no unity of purpose at the peace conference, no real meeting of national minds and desires. Fewer stories of what happened behind the scenes at Washington will be salable. The public already knows what happened. There is an immediate and logical relation between the discussions, as summarized in the communiques, and the finished treaties.

The conference has accomplished a great deal more than any well-informed observer expected of it. It has produced a firm accord in the Pacific, which is its greatest contribution to world peace. It has brought about a sweeping limitation of offensive naval armament. It has restored the German Shantung concessions to China—something which the Paris conference confessed its impotency to do. It has gone far on the road to the complete recognition of China's territorial integrity and political independence. It has translated from word to fact the American program for the restoration of Chinese sovereignty, which we, as a single, isolated nation, had never before been able to fortify by anything but a moral declaration and pious wish.

To those to whom international gatherings have always the aspect of horse trades, poker games or rough and tumble diplomatic bouts, the Washington conference has been colorless and therefore unsatisfying. But in the way of pacification, eliminating causes of international discord, emphasizing common world interests and bringing nations into closer and friendlier relations, it has been an extraordinary success.—The New York Tribune.

WHY MR. GOMPERS PRAISES THE INJUNCTION.

Mr. Gompers has written more fairly, although not without bias, in the American Federationist on the subject of injunctions than could have been suspected from his oral pyrotechnics on the same subject.

He is wholly right in his declaration that the injunction is not a measure of just law when it prevents a citizens from doing a thing which is his constitutional right, nor when it commands him to do that which he has a constitutional right to refrain from doing. If the president of the American Federation of Labor will but confine his future considerations of court injunctions to those phases, he will find lovers of liberty everywhere standing with him.

But Mr. Gompers has not always planted his feet on the secure ground of Federal constitution in attacking particular writs of injunction. More than once his assaults have been based on the allegation that courts and laws were wrong, which implied, too, a lack of integrity on the part of the Federal constitution.

Mr. Gompers' milder utterances on this subject result from the granting by Justice Wagner in New York of an injunction against employers engaged in an undertaking to violate a formal agreement with their workers. Labor was fully protected in this action of the court—the very power against which the president of the American Federation of Labor had so frequently inveigled became the workers' sure and sole defense in a time of vital need.

The la lis labor's best weapon of offense and defense. It is a pity that the workingman has been so long learning this truth. He can blame his leaders for his slowness in arriving at the plain fact of the matter. Could all laws be nullified today labor would drop back into a condition from which it has taken centuries to arise. Let the toiler take more careful heed of the fighting equipment the law provides for his every proper need.—St. Louis Times.

INDUSTRIAL MOBILIZATION

Under Secretary Weeks' administration, Assistant Secretary Wainright has been assigned to the great problem of industrial preparedness. This is made plain in the secretary's letter to the senate and house military committees. In this the secretary not only is carrying out the letter but the spirit of the army reorganization act of 1920.

Without any great expenditure of money Assistant Secretary of War Wainright is preparing plans for industrial mobilization which, in the event of war, would save hundreds of millions of dollars, and, as the secretary declares, would "prevent much of the economic disturbance attendant on the last war." The failure to pursue such a policy in the past is responsible for no small portion of the war taxes which are now depressing business.

The task of keeping the country industrially prepared for defense is a never ending one. With the changing industrial conditions and the improvements in the implements of warfare, the assistant secretary of war will be required to make periodical surveys and revise the industrial mobilization plans of the war department accordingly.—Army and Navy Journal.

The skipper and crew of a yacht off Cape Charles were flung overboard by a wave the other night and immediately returned to the deck by another, but the Honorable James M. Cox and his crew of the tempest-tossed ship Democracy, who are looking forward hopefully to the November elections, should understand that this sort of thing very seldom happens.—Providence Journal.

Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is of Great Help at This Period

Metropolis, Illinois.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it is all it claims to be and has benefited me wonderfully. I had been sick for months with a trouble which confined me to my bed and was unable to be up part of the time when I was advised by a friend, Mrs. Smith, to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. I was so much benefited by the use of these medicines that I was able to be up and about in two weeks. I was at the Change of Life when I began taking the medicines and I passed over that time without any trouble. Now I am hale and hearty, do all my housework, washing, ironing, scrubbing, and cooking, all there is to do about a house, and can walk two or three miles without getting too tired. I know of several of my neighbors who have been helped by your medicines."—Mrs. EMMA CULVER, 706 E. 7th St., Metropolis, Illinois.

Depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Nervousness, irritability, heat flashes, headache and dizziness, are relieved by this splendid medicine.

WASHINGON LETTER

Washington, D. C.—That the United States should not participate in the proposed Genoa Conference if delegates are present representing the Bolshevik Government of Russia is urged by Professor Paul N. Miliukov, former Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Russian Provisional Government. This spokesman of a portion of the people of Russia asserts that one purpose of the conference is to make the United States a burden bearer for the Bolsheviks and that the ultimate restoration of normal conditions in that country will be delayed by giving the Bolshevik regime the recognition incident to admitting its representatives to an international conference. He advocates continuance of the policy stated in Secretary Hughes' note of March 25, 1921, in his presentation of the subject Professor Miliukov says:

"The Bolshevik rule is nearing its logical end. The material resources upon which it rested are near exhaustion. The gold reserve in Bolshevik possession is down to almost nil, and they are unable, therefore, to get from abroad the supplies necessary for the support of their Communist Party, the Bolshevik bureaucracy and the Red Army. At the same time, Russia, including the villages, is in a state of starvation and famine, and the Bolsheviks are unable to get supplies from the peasants. Therefore, they are badly in need of a loan. The loan they ask for is needed for the upkeep of their decaying machinery of domination. Continuation in power is the Bolshevik's only aim."

"It is clear that Russia's return to productivity is indispensable for the reestablishment of normal economic conditions in Europe and throughout the world. At the same time, the minimum reforms required to make Russia's return to productivity possible is the reestablishment of personal security and legal order, which would safeguard human lives and property in Russia. In the absence of these prerequisites, none of the elements of Russia's national economy can be restored; neither agriculture, nor industry, nor commerce, nor the halting of trade, nor a sound currency, nor a hedge. Under the Bolshevik rule Russia will continue in a state of economic disintegration, sinking lower and lower. The famine, while not in practically as early as 1919, will become chronic."

"The real solution of the problem lies in the confirmation of the just and democratic American policy towards Russia, as expressed in Secretary Colby's note of August 10, 1920, and Secretary Hughes' note of March 25, 1921. We, Russian democrats, appeal to America that this policy of friendship for the Russian people and of an uncompromising attitude towards Bolshevism should be continued. If the Bolsheviks are anxious for intercourse with the civilized world, the democratic nations should present to them the following conditions as a preliminary to any conference: 1. The Bolsheviks must agree to an immediate abolition of terror and of the notorious 'Extraordinary Commission'; 2. Political freedom (freedom of speech, press and assembly) must be reestablished in Russia; and 3. The Bolsheviks must agree to immediate free elections to a really representative assembly."

"The Russian democrats will not cease to protest against any international measure which tends to strengthen morally and materially the government which is not recognized by the Russian people and whose policy perpetuates the state of starvation in Russia. Ignorance alone, or a hidden sympathy with the Bolshevik experiment, can dictate the policy which would give a new lease of life to the dying Bolshevik regime."

WITNESS IN DIVORCE KILLED ON STAND

Wealthy Somerset Land Owner Is Killed by Defendant on Witness Stand When Being Questioned.

Somerset, Ky., Feb. 17.—A. H. Wilson, 46 years old, a wealthy land owner, was shot and killed here Thursday by John F. Todd, 42 years old, a farmer, while Wilson was testifying in the divorce suit of Todd's wife.

Todd had been named co-respondent by Mrs. Todd in a cross-petition. Todd, his wife and attorney, were in the office of Judge William Catron, attorney for Mrs. Todd, during the taking of depositions. Wilson was being examined by Judge Catron.

"Were you ever intimate with Mrs. Todd?" the witness was asked.

"Absolutely no; it's a lie as black as ever told!"

The words hardly had been spoken when Todd rose from his seat, drew a revolver from his pocket and fired four times at Wilson, a few feet away. Three of the shots took effect. Wilson lived only a few minutes and died without making a statement.

Todd, showing no emotion and without a word of comment, surrendered his gun to a lawyer and was escorted to jail. Mrs. Todd fainted.

The killing was the sequel to the filing of a divorce suit by Mrs. Todd several months ago. The Tolls, with their three children, living adjoining an estate owned by Wilson. The latter did not live on this farm, his residence being on his fine country place at the outskirts of Somerset.

Prohibition Commissioned Haynes, designed to prevent depredations against stored liquors.

The guards, Mr. Haynes said, should challenge all strangers approaching a distillery or liquor warehouse and ascertain their business on the premises. Necessary arms for guards, he added, could be obtained through the main office here.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

What a Heap of Happiness it Would Bring to Maysville Homes.

Hard to do housework with an aching back.

Brings you hours of misery at leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause—

Backache pains often come from weak kidneys.

"Would save much needless woe.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Read what a Maysville citizen says:

Mrs. William Farley, 128 East Second street, says: "Not long ago I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they did me good. My back hurt nearly all the time and I couldn't do my washing on account of the misery in my back. I couldn't sleep at night and mornings I could get up feeling all right. I would be dizzy and could see black specks before my eyes. My kidneys didn't act regularly and in other ways showed signs of disorder. My hands and arms would get numb and cold. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly advertised so I went to Wool & Son's Drug Store and got a box. I began using them and was soon rid of the trouble."

Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Farley had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs. Buffalo, N. Y.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York.—There is a fascination about old landmarks, whatever the reason for their being remembered. For instance, one block over in what used to be Chelsea Village, many, many years ago, and is still known as "Old Chelsea" always attracts me, because of two old houses standing there. In the twenties, they are; one, where Edward Stockes shot "Jim" Fisk because of Josie Mansfield, and the other—of something the same sort of "romance"—the house that Freddie Gebhard, New York Society beau, built for the beautiful Lily Langtry, when she was at the height of her beauty and fame. The Langtry mansion, with its red brick facade, its mansard roof, and ornamental porch stands discreetly back from the street. In its day, it was an exquisite dwelling. Now the lower floor is rented for political meetings and the upper part is occupied by a family who let furnished rooms.

—NY—

The Charity Ball, which has been for 65 years an annual feature of society's schedule for the winter season, took in nearly $20,000 the other night for the New York Nursery and Child's Hospital, which is always its beneficiary. This was an unusually big year for the ball, its proceeds being close to its record in that respect.

—NY—

We have another shivery, thrills mystery and crime play, which, whether or not it ever reaches the hold that "The Bat" had on the public, will at least take its place among us to a considerable extent. It is "The Cat and the Canary," which opened the other night at the National Theater. It is spooky melodrama, with a lot of quaking people cooped up in a shadowy old house, while doors open by unseen hands and murdered men pitch headlong into the room from secret panels. Not the sort of play to see if one has an uneasy conscience or an empty house to go home to. But if one is free from these handicaps, it's rather enjoyable to have exactly that sort of an exciting evening once in a while. Henry Hull and Florence Eldridge make the play likeable as well as thrilling.

Fancy nine thousand dollars worth of lingerie? In one shop? Thieves cut a hole through the cellar the other night and stole that much. It is too bad to have any sort of robbery, of course, but the thought of $9,000 of real money so appeals me that the crime fades into insignificance.

"Turned the Corner" in Return
To Normalcy.

Washington, D. C.—Julius H. Barnes, former wheat director, calling attention to the rise of wheat 12 cents and corn 2 cents in a week's period, says: "It is time to quit telling the farmer that he is bankrupt. It is time to quit telling industry that there is no farm market. All farm selling prices are on the upgrade."

The department of labor reports that returns from 1,428 factories, employing more than 500 persons each, indicate that an almost 5 per cent gain in employment has been made since the first of the year. Nearly all industries, outside of steel, textiles and railroads, increased their labor forces. In Detroit, center of the automobile industry, the increase was 8.9 per cent.; in Sioux City, Iowa, 21 per cent. Chicago was listed with a 4 per cent. improvement among 40 cities reporting increases.

The bureau of labor statistics reports that in the past 18 months there has been a 19.5 per cent. cost of living drop. A further fact comes to light through reports of automobile license offices, the purchasing of new cars being justly regarded as a barometer of good times. Maryland reports a 14 per cent. increase in January tag sales for 1922 over the total of 1921.

By the time Juan could follow, he had lost all trace of her. But he followed just the same. He searched the country for his love, so far as he was able, and then, when the quest seemed hopeless, saw her—on the screen! Motion picture directors had been struck with Maria's dancing and there she was before 10 o'clock the next morning. Juan had her address, had found her, and she was in his arms, at her home in the Spanish Colony of the city, 154 East 51st street. They are to be married without delay.

Thank goodness, we have some definite word on the length of skirts for spring and summer, and twice thank goodness, that word is not for LENGTH! Nine inches from the floor was the verdict given at the Spring Fashion Review of the National Garment Retailers' Association, and it is a verdict that carries power. I can forgive this little flitting and paneling and things they have put onto our "dresses" clothes, just because they've been good enough not to hearken to the early rumors of longer skirts. The new color, it developed at the show, is dandilion. Whether or not the popularity of the hue was in any way influenced by the popularity which that one time unloved flower has enjoyed in considerable circles these past three years was not made clear.
